

Forbes Names ICF Among America's Best Management Consulting Firms Company Recognized for Work in Energy and Environment, Public Sector and Sustainability

FAIRFAX, Va., March 25, 2021 /PRNewswire/ -- Forbes has named ICF (NASDAQ: ICFI), a global consulting and digital services provider, one of America's Best Management Consulting Firms for the sixth straight year. The company was recommended for its work in three main categories: energy and environment; public sector, nonprofit and education; and sustainability.

"Our collaborative, mission-driven culture and resilient teams enabled us to effectively deliver a record year for new contract wins," said John Wasson, ICF president and CEO. "Looking ahead, we will continue to deliver exceptional client service while remaining focused on high-growth areas such as IT modernization, public health, disaster management, energy and climate."

The annual list was compiled by surveying over 7,500 partners and executives of management consultancies, as well as over 1,000 senior executives who worked with such firms over the last four years. The firms that received the most recommendations were included on the list.

In 2020, ICF was also included on Forbes' America's Best Employers in the State list for Virginia, where its global headquarters is located.

Read more about ICF, its work and career opportunities.

About ICF

ICF is a global consulting services company with over 7,000 full- and part-time employees, but we are not your typical consultants. At ICF, business analysts and policy specialists work together with digital strategists, data scientists and creatives. We combine unmatched industry expertise with cutting-edge engagement capabilities to help organizations solve their most complex challenges. Since 1969, public and private sector clients have worked with ICF to navigate change and shape the future. Learn more at icf.com.

Caution Concerning Forward-looking Statements

Statements that are not historical facts and involve known and unknown risks and uncertainties are "forward-looking statements" as defined in the Private Securities Litigation Reform Act of 1995. Such statements may concern our current expectations about our future results, plans, operations and prospects and involve certain risks, including those related to the government contracting industry generally; our particular business, including our dependence on contracts with U.S. federal government agencies; our ability to acquire and successfully integrate businesses; and the effects of the novel coronavirus disease (COVID-19) and related federal, state and local government actions and reactions on the health of our staff and that of our clients, the continuity of our and our clients' operations, our results of operations and our outlook. These and other factors that could cause our actual results to differ from those indicated in forward-looking statements THAT are included in the "Risk Factors" section of our securities filings with the Securities and Exchange Commission. The forward-looking statements included herein are only made as of the date hereof, and we specifically disclaim any obligation to update these statements in the future.

Contact: Lauren Dyke, lauren.dyke@ICF.com, +1.571.373.5577

SOURCE ICF

<https://icf.mediaroom.com/2021-03-25-Forbes-Names-ICF-Among-Americas-Best-Management-Consulting-Firms>