

Con Edison Selects ICF for $30+ Million Energy Efficiency Contract Company Will Significantly Expand Implementation of Residential Portfolio

FAIRFAX, Va., Feb. 1, 2022 /PRNewswire/ -- Con Edison of New York has recently selected global consulting and digital services provider ICF (NASDAQ:ICFI) for a recompetete contract to manage and significantly expand implementation of its residential energy efficiency portfolio. The contract has a ceiling value of over $30 million.

ICF will continue to implement Con Edison's residential energy efficiency portfolio and other programs, providing a full suite of services including program delivery, engineering, marketing, information technology, customer care and incentive processing. This includes implementing the utility's New York State Clean Heat decarbonization program as well as a new weatherization component.

Con Edison of New York serves 3.5 million customers in New York City and Westchester County, N.Y. Under the contract, ICF will also expand its support coverage area to encompass customers in additional Con Edison Inc. subsidiaries and counties in New York State and New Jersey.

"For over 15 years, ICF has partnered with Con Edison to develop and deliver innovative energy efficiency programs that bring energy savings and value to their customers," said Anne Choate, ICF senior vice president and energy, environment and infrastructure lead. "We look forward to expanding our support to help the utility continue to optimize its portfolio, make its programs even more efficient and achieve aggressive state decarbonization goals."

With over three decades of experience developing award-winning demand-side management and energy efficiency programs that touch every phase of the program lifecycle, ICF applies advanced analytics and deep domain expertise to help utilities plan, design and implement best-in-class programs and portfolios.
